

DAILY PLANET

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS

Thursday, April 27

2000

AIAA to sponsor luncheon to discuss von Braun team

The American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics (AIAA) will sponsor a luncheon and discussion from 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. May 13 at the University of Alabama in Huntsville Exhibit Hall. Members of the von Braun Rocket Team will discuss their arrival from Fort Bliss, Texas, in Huntsville 50 years ago and its impact. For tickets, at $15 or $10 for students, call Richard Wilson at 544-1977.

---

Retirees Association holds fireside chat 7 p.m. Thursday, Student Union Bldg., UAH

---

Safety lecture on heat stress 3 p.m. Thursday on Centerwide TV

CPR, first aid training available for contractors

Contractors may participate in CPR and first aid training at $40 per student. Group training can be scheduled onsite or individuals may attend classes at the Red Cross building on Washington Street in downtown Huntsville. For information, call 536-0084, ext. 325.

---

In this week's Marshall Star:

- Three Marshall experiments to fly on Shuttle mission STS-101
- Marshall employees have several ways to report hazards
- Lightning studies may provide earlier tornado alerts

---

NASA Exchange book fair, 8 a.m.-4 p.m. Thurs.-Fri., Bldg. 4203, room 1201