

DAILY PLANET

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS

Thursday, April 6

2000

'NASA Goes to the Stars' baseball game Thursday

Marshall Center Director Art Stephenson will throw out the first ball to open the Huntsville Stars' baseball season Thursday at 7:05 p.m. at Joe Davis Stadium in Huntsville. The NASA Exchange is sponsoring "NASA Goes to the Stars." Free tickets to the game against the Chattanooga Lookouts are available for employees and contractors. Anyone who ordered a T-shirt may pick it up at the Space Shop in Bldg. 4752.

Great Moonbuggy Race, Friday and Saturday, U.S. Space
& Rocket Center

VPP Audit Team
at Marshall
this week

Earth to Orbit symposium Friday at Bldg. 4203 cafeteria

NASA's Earth to Orbit Engineering Design Challenge symposium will be 10:30 a.m.-noon in the Bldg. 4203 cafeteria. Students will present their projects to Marshall engineers and scientists, and share their experiences in small group discussions. All Center employees and contractors are invited to attend.

Suppliers Street Market April 12 in Bldg. 4203 lobby

The Suppliers Street Market will be from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. April 12 in the lobby of Bldg. 4203. Everyone is invited to attend. Suppliers will have displays set up and salespersons available to discuss items of interest.

Software of Year
nominees due April
14. Call 544-0013 or 544-0014