

DAILY PLANET

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS

Thursday, April 22

1999

All-hands meeting Friday

All civil service and contractor employees are invited to join Center Director Art Stephenson in Morris auditorium Friday from 8:30-9:30 a.m. for the all-hands meeting. Topics will include safety, values, restructuring status, process improvements and Center process teams, personnel restructuring activities and move plans and guidelines. It will be broadcast via Marshall closed-circuit television for those unable to attend.

Hydrology Center
Open House
Thurs., 1-3 p.m.
Buses depart
Bldgs. 4481, 4200,
12:45 p.m., 2 p.m.

'Beanie Babies'
on sale Friday,
10:30 a.m., NASA
Exchange

Earth Day tree planting ceremony Friday

Marshall celebrates Earth Day Friday with a tree planting ceremony from 10-11 a.m. at Bldg. 4650. Speakers include Huntsville Mayor Loretta Spencer and Maj. Gen. Emmitt E. Gibson, commanding general of the U.S. Army Aviation and Missile Command at Redstone. In case of inclement weather, the ceremony will be in Morris Auditorium.

In this week's Marshall Star:

- Moonbuggy race results
- Landsat-7 satellite launched
- 4 Marshall contractors surpass 1 million hours with no lost-time accidents

This is Volunteer Recognition
Week. Thank you to all Marshall
volunteers