

DAILY PLANET

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS

Monday, Dec. 13

1999

Shuttle Discovery to undergo final prelaunch tests Monday

Work has been completed on replacing the dented fuel line on Space Shuttle Discovery and tests were successful. Final prelaunch tests are to take place Monday. The countdown clock for mission STS-103 is scheduled to begin at 1:30 a.m. EST Thursday. The launch is expected at 9:18 p.m. EST Thursday.

CaER Holiday Reception 1-3 p.m., Mon., Bldg. 4200, suite 206

Marshall early out authority through Sept. 30, 2000. Call 544-8115

Bldg. 4752 basketball courts closed until Wednesday

To set up for the Centerwide holiday reception, the basketball courts at Bldg. 4752 are closed Monday until Wednesday. The courts reopen at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday following the reception.

Volunteers needed for A&M youth motivational task force

Marshall's Equal Opportunity Office is looking for volunteers for a youth motivational task force at Alabama A&M University. Volunteers will spend two days on campus speaking to students and classes emphasizing skills necessary for making realistic career decisions. For more information, call Willie Love at 544-0088.

Bldg. 4471 cafeteria closed for remodeling through Jan. 3