

DAILY PLANET

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS

Tuesday, Jan.18

2000

Marshall volunteers, students building robot for competition

Lee High School students in Huntsville and Marshall volunteers are building a robot for the FIRST (For Inspiration and Recognition in Technology) Robotics Competitions to be held March 16-18 at the Houston, Texas, Astrodome and April 6-8 at the Epcot Center in Orlando. The Education Programs Department and Engineering Directorate are sponsors. To volunteer, call Vicki Smith at 544-1798.

For tickets to Washington Update breakfast with Ala. Sen. Richard Shelby, call 544-0042

Early out authority date changed. Applications due Friday. For help, call 544-8115

Leadership Forum Feb. 1 kicks off Black History Month

A Leadership Forum from 1:30-3 p.m. Feb. 1 in Morris Auditorium kicks off Black History Month activities. Panelists will discuss the key leadership competencies and skills for effective leaders, ways to improve leadership skills and the most important future leadership challenges.

Learn to control weight at Marshall Fitness Center

A weight control program focusing on lifestyle, exercise, attitude relationships and nutrition will begin Jan. 25 at the Marshall Fitness Center. The 10-week program meets from noon-1 p.m. Administrative time has been approved for this program. For more information, call 544-7570 or e-mail Patricia Mirandy@msfc.nasa.gov

MESA meets 11:30 a.m. Thursday, Bldg. 4471, room C-105