

DAILY PLANET

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS

Monday, June 9

1997

Nicogossian Named Head Of Microgravity Science

Dr. Arnauld E. Nicogossian has been named associate administrator for NASA's Office of Life and Microgravity Sciences and Applications. Nicogossian has been the acting associate administrator for the office since May 1996.

Mon. is Last Day to Submit Questions for June 16 Employee Update to CO01

Safety Shoe Van Here Wed., 8 a.m. - 2 p.m., Southwest End of Bldg. 4471

Marshall Welcomes Teachers for Summer Enrichment Program

The 1997 Summer Teacher Enrichment Program (STEP) kicks off Monday at Marshall. Seventeen middle school and high school teachers from Alabama, Arkansas, Iowa, Louisiana, Missouri and Mississippi are participating in the program. The math and science teachers will be observing and working with NASA scientists in Marshall labs. During the seven-week program, they will also learn how to use new teaching aids and develop educational activities for the classroom.

Littles to Speak at Marshall Management Meeting June 18

The Marshall Management Association will meet Wednesday, June 18, at the Marriott. Center Director Dr. Wayne Littles will be the speaker. A social will begin at 5:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 6:30. All Marshall employees are invited. Tickets may be purchased at the door for $15. The deadline for reservations is Monday, June 16. Contact: John Cather via e-mail or at 4-1743.