

DAILY PLANET

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS

March 24

1999

New policy eases access to U.S. Space & Rocket Center

A new policy announced Tuesday provides direct access to the Space & Rocket Center for Marshall employees, their spouses and children under 21 still living at home as well as Marshall retirees and their spouses. Beginning April 1, the Space & Rocket Center's Human Resources Office will issue new badges that allow direct access to the museum, the bus tour of Marshall and IMAX movie presentations during normal operating hours.

Florida Tech offers an information session on Computer Info. Systems master's program Thurs., 11:30 a.m.-1 p.m., Bldg. 5304, room 4326, Sparkman Center. Call 881-7878.

Centerwide TV will broadcast 'Space Exploration at the Millennium: In Remembrance of Carl Sagan' Thursday at 9 a.m.

Dial-in service gets faster numbers

Beginning Wednesday, RAS dial-in users who connect using 961-3337 or 1-888-825-5337 will no longer use these numbers. Please change these phone numbers in the control panel dial-up networking properties to 895-0722 and 1-888-493-9160. You will continue to use your DDS userid and password for remote access authentication. This action will migrate you to a faster ISDN or 56kbps V.90 modem dial-in system. For more information, call 544-HELP, Option 0.