

DAILY PLANET

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS

Wednesday, May 21

1997

Marshall's Jean Olivier Wins AIAA Holger Toftoy Award

Jean R. Olivier, deputy manager of Marshall's Observatory Projects Office, has been selected to receive the Holger Toftoy Award for outstanding technical management in the fields of aeronautics and astronautics. The award will be presented by the Alabama/Mississippi Section of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics at the organization's annual Awards Banquet Thursday. Center Director Dr. Wayne Littles will be the speaker at the banquet.

Employee Health and Fitness Week Outdoor Aerobics, 4:50 p.m. - 6 p.m. Wed. at Picnic Pavilion

Employee Health And Fitness Week 5K Run/ 2-Mile Walk, 11 a.m. Thurs. at Bldg. 4752

CTAP Offers Investing Seminar for Women and Business Counseling

The Career Transitional Assistance Program Center will hold a seminar for women on investing, 1 - 3:30 p.m. Thursday in Bldg. 4723, Room 111A. The center will also sponsor individual counseling sessions on how to start a small business. These sessions will be conducted by the Small Business Development Center of the Chamber of Commerce. To make reservations for the seminar or schedule a counseling session, contact: CTAP, 961-1354.

Special on Living in Space to Air Thursday on Sci-Fi Channel

"Living and Working in Space: The Countdown Has Begun," a 90-minute television broadcast about the day-to-day realities of life in space, will air at 7 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. CDT Thursday on the Sci-Fi Channel. The program is a joint effort of the Sci-Fi Channel and FASE Productions. It will feature recent developments in space exploration and focus on people who are working to make life in space a reality.

Marshall Chapter, NASA Alumni League To Meet 11:30 a.m. Thurs. at UAH Bevill Center