

DAILY PLANET

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS

Friday, May 29

1998

---

Center's Underwater Facility to be Operated as Commercial Venture

At the recommendation of Marshall, NASA has selected Oceaneering Space Systems of Houston, Texas, for negotiations toward an agreement under which the firm would operate the Center's Neutral Buoyancy Simulator facility on a commercial basis, at no cost to the government. Oceaneering Space Systems provides engineering services and hardware to customers who operate in marine, space and other harsh environments.

---

Asian-Pacific American Heritage Month Picnic, Noon Sun. At Marshall's Picnic Area

---

Discount Tickets For Pro Soccer Game Sat. Available at NASA Exchange, Bldg. 4752

---

Clean Propulsion Technologies Focus of Conference June 1-3

The Third Conference on Aerospace Environmental Technology is set for June 1-3 at the Von Braun Center. The conference will bring together the aerospace community to describe, review and critically assess evolving replacement and clean propulsion technologies. Marshall-related programs and technology implementation will be discussed by Center representatives.

---

Bookfair Planned for 8 a.m.-4 p.m. June 2-4, Bldg. 4200, Room G-13

The NASA Exchange is sponsoring the semi-annual bookfair 8 a.m.-4 p.m. June 2-4 in Bldg. 4200, room G-13. A variety of hardback books including bestsellers, cookbooks, gardening, biographies, sports and children's selections will be offered at discounted prices.

---

'Take Our Children to Work Day' Set For June 25 At Marshall