

DAILY PLANET

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS

Friday, Oct. 20

2000

Discovery set to land Sunday

Space Shuttle Discovery is set to return to Kennedy Space Center in Florida at 1:10 p.m. CDT Sunday. STS-92 marks the 100th mission of the Space Shuttle. During the more than 10-day mission, astronauts continued construction of the International Space Station.

Friday is last day to pick up Safety Day T-shirts from 11 a.m.-12:30 p.m., Bldg. 4203 lobby

Blood drive, 8 a.m.-1:30 p.m. Friday, Bldg. 4752

Award term contracting seminar Nov. 1 at Tom Bevill Center

The National Contract Management Association will hold a seminar on "Award Term Contracting" from 8 a.m.-4 p.m. Nov. 1 at the Tom Bevill Center on Sparkman Drive. Award Term Contracting is an innovative technique to incentivize contractor performance. It rewards excellent performance and penalizes poor performance. For more information, call Carl Ehle at 971-7327.

Marshall presents engineering training opportunities

Space Mission Design Exercise will be from 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Nov. 13-17 in Bldg. 4200, room G13D. Groups will design a mission concept that meets objectives at an acceptable lifecycle cost. The Systems Requirement 32 will be from 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Dec. 4-8, Bldg. 4200, room G13D. Course focus is on the 10 tenets of NASA system design. To apply, submit a Marshall Form 4280 to Ela Washington, CD20. For more information, call 544-1164.

Volunteers needed for Black History Month committee. Call James Bailey at 544-2523