

DAILY PLANET

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS

Monday, October 27

1997

Center Director Littles to Retire From NASA Jan. 3

Marshall Center Director Dr. Wayne Littles announced to his staff this morning that he has advised Wil Trafton and Dan Goldin of his plans to retire on Jan. 3, 1998. He indicated that no decision has been made as to who will replace him. He called his decision to retire "the toughest decision of my professional career," but indicated it is "the right time."

Tues. is Last Day for Flu Shots

Tuesday is the last day the Marshall Medical Center will offer free flu vaccinations. Civil service employees and on-site contractors may receive flu shots noon - 2 p.m. at the Medical Center.