

DAILY PLANET

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS

Thursday, October 30

1997

'He Will be Missed,' Goldin Says of Littles

"Wayne Littles has been one of NASA's brightest stars," NASA Administrator Daniel S. Goldin said, commenting on Dr. Littles' announcement of his intention to retire in January. "Through his leadership, the Marshall Center has excelled in all its projects. He has helped the agency meet the challenges of the next millennium. Wayne will be missed."

Education Office Seeks to ID Employees Who Support Education

The Education Office here is seeking to identify all Marshall employees who support area schools, either through their jobs or privately. These employees will be recognized at a reception Wednesday, Nov. 19, which will be attended by area educators and community leaders. It will be held in conjunction with American Education Week, Nov. 17 - 21.
Contact: Tammy.Rowan@msfc.nasa.gov.