

DAILY PLANET

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS

Monday, September 22

1997

CFC Bus Tours Continue Tues.

Tours of recipient agencies of this year's Combined Federal Campaign will continue Tuesday. Tour A will be of the Family Services Center and Girls Inc. Tour B will be of ARC and the Red Cross. Buses will pick up passengers for the tours at 8:15 a.m. at Bldg. 4610 and at 8:30 a.m. at the north loop of Bldg. 4203. Marshall employees and on-site contractors may participate. Contact: Cathy Nichelson, 4-0412.

CFC Speaker Series Presents Talk on Crime Stoppers 2 p.m. Tues. in Bldg. 4610, Room 5025

AIAA Defense and Space Conference Tues. - Thurs. at Van Braun Center; Free to Civil Service Employees

X-33, Aerospike Engine Topics of Lecture Wed. 7 p.m. at Library

The X-33 technology demonstrator and the Aerospike Engine will be the topics of a talk 7 - 8:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Huntsville-Madison County Public Library auditorium. Marshall's Steve Cook with the Space Transportation Program Office and Stephen Stoyanof with the Space Transportation Systems Chief Engineers Office will be the speakers. The event is hosted by the Huntsville L-5 Space Society. It is open to the public and there is no cost to attend. Contact: Ronnie Lajoie, 461-3064.

Jam to Feature Over 60 Hot Acts, Exchange Offers Discount Tickets

The Big Spring Jam music festival this weekend in Huntsville will feature more than 60 artists and groups, including Billy Dean, Blood Sweat & Tears, Kool & The Gang, Lee Roy Parnell, Little Texas, Mark Lindsay, The Neville Brothers and Trisha Yearwood. Discount weekend passes are available at the NASA Exchange for $15, a $3-savings off the regular advance rate. At the gate tickets will be $10 a day or $20 for a weekend pass. More information is on the web at <http://www.bigspringjam.org>.